

Hey guys!

Just a heads up that I have ADHD, which can affect my focus levels and time management. It's nothing to be too worried about; I'm all good – though sometimes I might get distracted, become disorganised or need extra reminders about plans.

If there are times when I seem a bit all over the place or if anything bothers you, just let me know. I'm looking forward to hanging out!

Example